

KOKOMO WINERY

SONOMA COUNTY, CA

2015 Grenache Rosé North Coast

Varietal:	90% Grenache 10% Mourvedre
Appellation:	Dry Creek Valley and Redwood Valley
Harvest:	September 2015
Fermentation:	100% Stainless Steel
Cases Produced:	210 cases
Alcohol:	12.9%

Vineyard Description:

The fruit for this wine is grown at two different vineyards from two different appellations. Teldeschi Vineyard is located in the heart of the Dry Creek Valley of Sonoma County, and farmed by Ray Teldeschi. The Teldeschi family has been farming this land since 1889, and this vineyard has a long history of delivering intense fruit. Tollini Vineyard is located in the Redwood Valley of Mendocino County. Third generation farmer, Alvin Tollini, has cared for his family's land for the last 30 years, and continues to grow high quality fruit.

Winemaker Notes:

The delicate hue of this rosé is a direct result of harvesting the fruit at 21 brix and our gentle whole berry press. The soothing entry is followed by a crisply layered middle and finish. Delightful flavors of tropical fruit, strawberry, and raspberry awaken the palate.